RICHARD J. MARTIN, M.D.

Dr. Richard J. Martin is Professor of Pediatrics, Reproductive Biology, and Physiology & Biophysics at Case Western Reserve University School of Medicine, and board certified in Pediatrics and Neonatal/Perinatal Medicine. He was educated in Australia and received his medical degree from the University of Sydney School of Medicine. He is the first holder of the Drusinsky/Fanaroff Chair in Neonatology, Rainbow Babies & Children's Hospital.

Dr. Martin is a most sought after expert in the field of Developmental Respiratory Neurobiology, focused primarily on the subjects of apnea of prematurity, and both lung and airway injury. He has lectured widely and is a sought after speaker in the USA and worldwide. Additionally, he is co-Chair of a regional Neonatology conference held annually at the Nemacolin Woodlands Resort in Farmington, Pennsylvania, and of the International Neonatology Symposium held in Bangkok, Thailand; the seventh of which is February 2016. Dr. Martin is senior editor of the major neonatal text, Neonatal-Perinatal Medicine, along with Drs. Avroy A. Fanaroff and Michele C. Walsh. Also to his credit are nearly 190 first- and/or co-authored articles in peer-reviewed journals, and approximately 95 chapters published in well-known books in the medical field. He serves on numerous editorial boards, is past Chair of the Sub-Board in Neonatal/Perinatal Medicine of the American Board of Pediatrics, and has mentored a number of leaders in Neonatology in the USA and abroad.
